Citation was called hard down for today.

Chances of convection firing along dry-line in vicinity today is highly uncertain and would likely produce only isolated anvil targets for Citation to work late afternoon and early evening. With absence of NPOL/CSAPR, marginal meteorological conditions, and a good chance of early AM, long, complex operations tomorrow over OK, we called the Citation down for today.

NPOL is currently down and prognosis is currently still being actively worked by NPOL staff. CSAPR is not back up yet but is hopeful for tomorrow.

Afternoon Weather Briefing and Update Discussion will be at 1500 CDT at the Fairfield Inn Lobby.
